INFORMATION

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This informational report provides an update on city-wide staffing as of May 2, 2022. There was a total of 4,727.80 Full-Time Equivalent (FTE) budgeted positions with 772.14 FTE positions vacant, resulting in a 16.33 percent vacancy rate. For the 2021-22 budget, 150.5 positions were added along with 86.34 positions unfrozen, totaling 236.84 positions added July 1, 2021.

This report analyzes the status of each full-time and permanent part-time vacancy by department (Attachment A) and a listing of positions that were frozen as of May 2, 2022 (Attachment B). For the purposes of this report, positions that are frozen are not counted in the vacancy rate as they cannot be filled. There is a total of 166.36 FTE frozen positions as of May 2, 2022. For reference, there were 236.14 FTE frozen in the May 2021 Staffing Report.

Human Resources Management (HRM) Department's recruitment priorities are set by the City Administrator and in coordination with individual departments. In some instances, high-priority recruitments do not correlate to high-volume recruitments and may not reduce the overall vacancy rate.

BACKGROUND / LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

The Human Resources Management Department provides this semi-annual report to the Finance and Management Committee. This report examines full-time and permanent part-time vacancy data, as provided by departments, as of May 2, 2022. Additionally, this report analyzes several key organizational staffing elements, including unemployment rates, retention rates and employee tenure.

ANALYSIS AND POLICY ALTERNATIVES

Vacancies

For the purposes of this report, vacancies are described as non-encumbered and encumbered. The former is available to be filled and not linked for any other purpose, such as overtime, temporary staffing or acting assignments. The latter is tied to one of the aforementioned purposes.

As of May 2, 2022, there were 772.14 FTE positions vacant citywide with 36.0 FTE encumbered as described above. Removing the encumbered positions reduces the vacancies to 736.14 FTE and a vacancy rate of 15.57 percent.

The “budgeted vacancy factor,” which is distinct from the “vacancy rate,” is a fixed budget ratio applied to the total personnel allocation for a given department. Historically, the budgeted vacancy factor has been 4%. In the Mayor’s 2021-23 Proposed Budget, the Citywide vacancy factor was set at 8% for the General Purpose Fund. In September 2021, the City Council approved an additional $1.3 million from vacancies to increase the budgeted vacancy factor to 8.4% for the General Purpose Fund.

Table 1 below shows all vacant positions (encumbered and non-encumbered), which results in the current 16.33 percent vacancy rate. Table 2 shows only non-encumbered positions, resulting in a 15.57 percent vacancy rate.

HIRING EFFORTS

There were 379 full-time and permanent part-time hires during FY 2021-22 through May 2, 2022. Promoting existing City staff remained a significant goal and more than half of all vacancies – 53.6% – were filled with current City employees during the above timeframe. For comparison sake, in FY 2020-21, 405 full-time and part-time permanent hires of which 58% were hired from existing City staff. While hiring and promoting from within is a laudable goal, doing so means more than half of our hires replace one vacancy with another, which leaves our vacancy rate unchanged.

RECRUITMENT CONDITIONS AND SOLUTIONS

1. National and Regional Market Conditions: According to the latest Bureau of Labor Statistics report, the nation’s unemployment rate is 3.6% as of April 2022 and the Oakland-Hayward-Fremont regional unemployment rate is 3.3% as of March 2022. The California unemployment rate is 4.2% as of March 2022 according to the California Employment Development Department. While these rates have increased over the past year, the competitive labor market is a significant factor when recruiting qualified and diverse candidates and has a negative impact on the number of applications the City receives for job postings. During FY 21-22, as with many public-sector organizations, there was a decrease in the number of applications received per job posting. Many recruitment announcements have been extended or posted continuously to allow for more applicants. In some cases, newly created eligible lists have been exhausted before all vacancies in that classification could be filled.
2. HR Staffing Update: Human Resources is not immune to the impacts of the recent hiring freeze and the difficult job market. There are currently five (5) vacancies in the Recruitment Unit, which include two recent resignations of the Assistant Human Resources Director and a Human Resources Analyst. Efforts are currently underway to fill these positions as soon as possible. Two of the vacancies are in the Technician and Analyst classifications, which has a direct impact on the number of recruitments being conducted. On the hiring side, one Human Resources Analyst, one Technician, and one retired annuitant were recently hired.

3. Reduced Number of Applicants: As reported in previous Staffing Reports, there has been a trend of decreased applicants for public-sector positions both regionally and nationally. In Oakland, HRM received 43% fewer applications in FY 20-21 than in FY 19-20. Projections for FY 21-22 are somewhat better; however, still 20% below FY 19-20. The impacts of fewer applicants include extended job announcement periods, delayed testing, and eligible lists with fewer candidates than the number of vacancies. Overall, this requires recruitments for certain classifications to occur more frequently. Table 7 shows the number of applicants received by regional county governments. The clear trend is there are fewer applicants for public sector positions. This is further supported by the attached report “Top 10 Public Sector HR Trends for 2022” published by NeoGov (Attachment C), which states that “the number of applications per job has dropped 21% between 2015 and 2021.”

	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021
County of Alameda	21,709	25,579	22,502	15,132	10,800
County of Contra Costa			33,048	32,769	33,260
County of Santa Clara		112,923	101,232	97,000	86,164
County of San Mateo	17,025	19,538	18,117	13,510	13,198
City of Oakland			14,161	14,103	8,032
County of Napa	7,911	6,396	6,493	4,382	5,488

4. Non-responsive candidates: In addition to an overall reduced number of applicants, those that do apply are not responding to additional steps of the hiring process. There has been a notable increase in candidates not responding to examination invitations, not attending scheduled examinations, not responding to requests for hiring interviews or not attending interviews after confirming availability. This factor exacerbates the ability to produce robust eligible lists and fill vacancies.
5. Difficult to Fill Classifications: Some classifications remain difficult to fill despite combined efforts between Human Resources and the hiring department(s). Examples of these classifications and the number of current vacancies include Accountant III (8), Assistant Engineer II (17), Civil Engineer (9), Police Officer/Trainee, and Specialty Combination (Building) Inspector (12). Human Resources continues to coordinate with departments to increase the number of applicants for these important positions. HRM and the departments are exploring new recruitment approaches that shorten the hiring timeline and reduces any unnecessary barriers to employment.
6. Strategies for filling positions: The City’s recruitment consultant, CPS HR Consulting (CPS), a self-supporting public agency, has been instrumental in assisting departments with both recruitment and classification projects. Since the beginning of FY 20/21, CPS has assisted with approximately 17 recruitments. They are currently assigned several exams including the Contract Compliance Officer series, Complaint Investigator II, Construction Inspector, Electrician Leader, Transportation Planner III, Concrete Finisher, Planner II, III and IV, and various Project Manager II recruitments.

7. Recruitment & Selection Process Overview: There are many steps involved in hiring new employees. Many are required by the Civil Service Rules, labor agreements, federal guidelines, and position/budget controls. To illustrate the processes, the following are attached: Recruitment Process Flowchart (Attachment D); Non-Sworn Civilian Recruitment Flowchart (Attachment E); Hiring Process Checklist (Attachment F); and Onboarding Process Flowchart (Attachment G).

Below is a summary of the steps that Human Resources Management conducts for full recruitment:

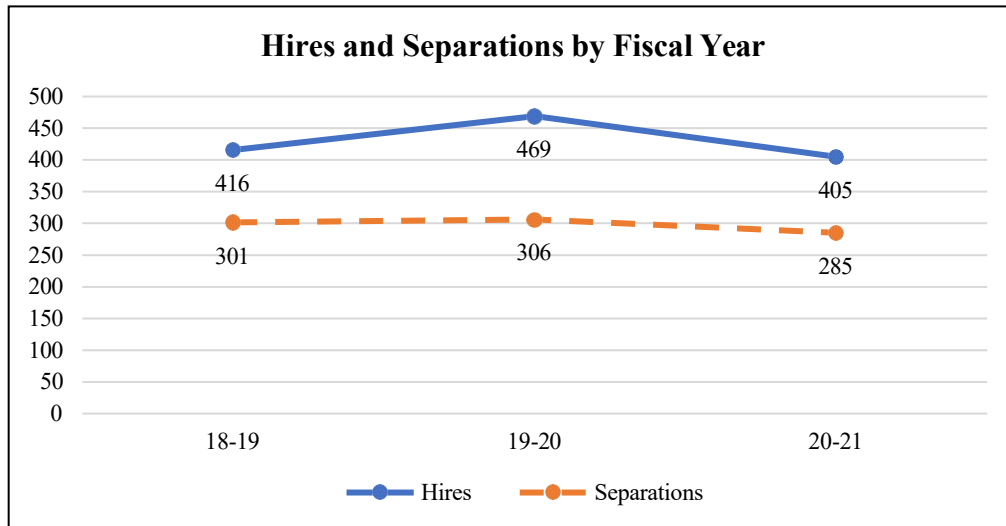

- Review of Job Specification
- Personnel Requisition
- Pre-Recruitment Checklist: Job Analysis
- Exam Plan Meeting & Exam Development
- Job Posting (Application Filing Period)
- Review Application for Minimum Qualifications
- Supplemental Questionnaire (SQ) Review or Exam
- Competitive Examination
- Preference Points
- Eligible List Established
- Notification to Candidates of Exam Results
- Referrals & Departmental Interviews Initiated

HRM continues to carefully analyze this process to seek improvements. In 2018, an evaluation process resulted in a reduction from 52 steps to 32 steps. As the new Human Resources Manager is hired, a top priority will be a new evaluation of the recruitment and hiring process to identify additional efficiencies.

WORKFORCE ANALYSIS

1. Separations and Hires: To reduce the overall vacancy rate, city hiring needs to outpace separations. As demonstrated in Figure A below, over the last three years, the number of hires has exceeded the number of separations. This trend is projected to continue in the current fiscal year.

2. Tenure of Separations: According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the national rate of tenure with a public-sector employer is 6.5 years (the private sector is 3.7 years), which includes all separations; these figures are from 2020, and the next update to the national tenure statistics is expected to be published in September 2022. Over the last three years, all separated full-time City of Oakland employees averages 12.28 years of service, far surpassing the national average. See Figure B below:

3. Separations by Department: While the tenure of separating employees is above the national average and overall hires exceed the number of separations, rates of separation vary by department. Table 8 shows the number of separations, including retirements and resignations, in six of the largest city departments. Of note, among sworn Police personnel, there were 92 resignations in FY 2021-22 (as of May 2, 2022) and 66 in FY 2020-21, with FY21-22 separation rates being higher than those of the prior year.

PUBLIC SECTOR HR TRENDS FOR 2022

MUCH LIKE 2020 BEFORE IT, 2021 HAS BEEN A WAKE UP CALL FOR HR LEADERS AT PUBLIC SECTOR AGENCIES

From the continued impact of COVID-19 and calls for social justice, as well as a new job market that favors job seekers looking for career change and more flexibility, government HR must evolve with the times to ensure that agencies that serve the people continue to be able to serve them despite rapidly changing times.

To identify the biggest trends influencing government HR professionals in 2022 and beyond, NEOGOV surveyed over 800 HR professionals in the public sector to get a feel for what's top of mind for them. Here are the top 10 takeaways:

1 BRACING FOR THE FALLOUT OF THE GREAT RESIGNATION

The so-called "Great Resignation" has sent shockwaves through the entire U.S. workforce, and the public sector is no different. In an industry that already suffers from a workforce that is disproportionately older, the Great Resignation presents potentially dire circumstances. Between retirements (both planned and early) and employees seeking a change after the impacts of COVID-19, vacancies are increasing rapidly.

Taking proactive steps to determine the primary reasons causing employees to vacate positions and addressing them will be critical in 2022 and beyond.

86% of government HR professionals reported a moderate or significant increase in vacant roles compared to last year.

FEWER APPLICANTS PER JOB

In addition to the loss of existing talent, government agencies are also noticing an alarming drop in applicants per job.

The number of applications per job has dropped 21% between 2015 and 2021.

Source: NEOGOV 2021 Job Seeker Report

As the gap between job openings and job applications continues to grow, government HR must consider how this could affect the overall quality of the services their agencies provide to citizens and communities.

Difference in % Applications per Job by Salary Range, 2015 vs 2021

The above data taken from NEOGOV’s 2021 Job Seeker Report shows that the decline in job applications per job over the last six years is being felt across all job types and salary levels. The hardest hit are jobs that pay below $40,000/year, which are frequently the jobs that interface with the public and community members the most. This may unfortunately lead to a decrease in the quality of services that agencies are able to provide due to being short staffed.

Taking a crucial look at things like how to better write the job requisitions and otherwise improve the attractiveness of jobs within the public sector will be important to try to close this gap. In addition, actively trying to reduce the already long public sector time-to-hire will be a priority in order to better compete with other government agencies, not to mention the private sector (where the average time-to-hire is just over a month, compared to 121 days in the public sector).

EXPANDING ACCESS TO REMOTE WORK & FLEXIBILITY

One way public sector agencies are attempting to stop the bleeding from the Great Resignation and increase interest in vacancies is through becoming more flexible around remote and hybrid work.

45% of government agencies will offer some employees the opportunity to work remotely permanently.

Additionally, 29% are considering enabling remote employment. Only about a quarter (26%) are unwilling to offer any remote employment moving forward.

61% of those surveyed said they felt that offering flexibility and remote work improved their candidate pool for open roles.

VIDEO INTERVIEWING IS HERE TO STAY

Interacting with employees and candidates via video conference became a necessity in 2020, but many agencies have discovered that leveraging video interviewing in recruiting has benefits that will lead to its continued use in the future.

Some logistical concerns that video interviewing can solve for agencies and candidates alike include eliminating scheduling conflicts by using one-way interviews with preset questions that a candidate can answer at their convenience, and a more consistent interview process across the board to ensure equitable hiring practices.

During the recruitment phase 72% use video interviews, while only 11% definitively stated that they would no longer continue to do so post-pandemic.

ANALYZING DATA TO INFORM & GUIDE DECISIONS

Leaning on data to make more informed decisions is a key focus for the public sector.

TIME-TO-HIRE

68% of agencies surveyed are tracking time to hire, and 55% of them believe they should be doing a better job of keeping an eye on it. 14% plan to start tracking it, leaving less than 20% that are not concerned with monitoring how long it takes candidates to go from being applicants to hires.

EQUITABLE RECRUITING

60% are tracking how diverse candidates progress through each phase of the recruitment process, and 19% plan to start monitoring it to help ensure equitable practices are being followed. Only 21% have not identified it as a need in their organizations.

BENCHMARKING

35% of agencies are consistently comparing themselves to other public sector organizations to see how they're doing. 25% plan to start benchmarking in the near future.

DRIVING DEI INITIATIVES

2020 and 2021 provided swift momentum for emphasizing diversity, equity, and inclusion efforts within the public sector, and that will continue into the future, according to survey respondents. 32% said that actively monitoring candidate pools for adequate diversity was a top priority.

Additionally, over two thirds of respondents stated that their organization is offering DEI training on topics like unconscious bias to managers in hopes that it will improve diversity.

In addition to targeting diversity job boards, establishing or refining the DEI section of the careers site and highlighting current diverse talent's stories more prominently were cited as key concepts for DEI improvement by 50% and 54%, respectively.

INVESTING IN EXISTING TALENT

Providing existing employees with the ability to learn and upskill on the job is a priority for 2022 that will benefit employees and agencies alike.

61% use learning management systems to assign and track training, while 59% leverage performance management software to provide coaching and evaluation to improve career growth and increases retention.

These efforts serve a dual purpose -- providing employees with valuable career expansion and development, while also benefiting the agency with more talented and engaged employees who are less likely to leave for greener pastures.

REVAMPING THE CANDIDATE EXPERIENCE

Improving the experience a candidate has when exploring job opportunities with an agency is another trend for the new year. While 63% of those surveyed said that HR has efficiently mapped out what the candidate experience is like - from visibility of the careers site to ease of applying to jobs - less than 1 in 10 rated their candidate experience as exceptional.

Respondents agreed that two things in particular could elevate the candidate experience: improving communication throughout each stage of the recruitment funnel (53%) and making careers sites and job listings more mobile friendly (52%). Additionally, improving job descriptions with better and more concise copy as well as multimedia like photos and videos were cited as ways to better entice quality applicants.

47% of respondents agreed that the application process is too long and may be hindering recruitment efforts.

BUILDING A CANDIDATE POOL FOR FUTURE ROLES

While not every applicant for a given job is a good fit, the candidate may still be a great match for the agency in other roles or for future recruitment.

Although agencies clearly recognize the value of keeping in touch with candidates, only 17% currently have a candidate relationship management system.

Building up a pool of qualified candidates for future roles can eliminate many of the roadblocks that recruiters experience in trying to fill vacancies, and agencies are likely.

GREATER FOCUS ON DEFINING THE EMPLOYER BRAND

An agency's employer brand - or what it means to work at their agency from a cultural perspective - is a crucial part of not only recruitment, but also defining the agency's overall goals and values.

30% of agencies believe they need to develop or refine their employer brand.

While more than half (61%) said their agency had a solid employer brand, over half of them (57%) acknowledged they could do a better job of advertising the brand. Only 9% said their agency had not put any thought into it.

In a job seekers' market, it is imperative that employers make abundantly clear the pros of working for an organization. HR leaders in the public sector will be spending time collecting information about what makes their agency an employer of choice to improve recruitment, hiring, and retention efforts.
