BICYCLIST & PEDESTRIAN ADVISORY COMMISSION

Oakland's Bicyclist & Pedestrian Advisory Commission (BPAC) was established in 2014 to advise the City Council on plans, policies, projects, and programs that affect walking and bicycling. In September 2014, the Commission replaced the Bicycle & Pedestrian Advisory Committee, a body formed by the Public Works Department that had met monthly since 1994.

Oakland residents interested in serving on the Commission are encouraged to apply by mid-September this year. The nine-member commission has staggered terms such that three commissioners' terms end December 31 of each year. The BPAC reviews applications and makes recommendations to the Mayor. The Mayor proposes candidates that must be confirmed by City Council, with new terms and commissioners starting each January.

Commissioners must take the Oath of Office and submit Conflict of Interest Filings (Form 700) at the time of assuming office, annually by April 1, and within 30 days of separation from this body. Commissioners cannot serve more than 6 years.

OAKLAND WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT BOARD

The Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act of 2014 ("WIOA") replaced and superseded that Workforce Investment Act of 1998 ("WIA"). The Oakland Workforce Investment Board ("WIB") was created pursuant to WIA in 199. Section 107 of WIOA provides for the establishment of a new local workforce development board in each local workforce development area to replace the WIA workforce investment board in carrying out certain designated workforce development functions. Section 679.310(g) of the proposed WIOA regulations requires the chief local official of a local area to establish bylaws for the workforce development board consistent with state policy for board membership.

As mandated by the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA), on March 31, 2016, by Executive Order, and as Chief Local Elected Official of the Local Area Designation (the City of Oakland), Mayor Libby Schaaf disbanded the former Workforce Investment Board (WIB) and established the new Workforce Development Board (WDB). The Oakland WDB oversees the federally-funded employment and training programs and services in Oakland. These programs and services help job seekers gain employment and connect businesses with a qualified workforce.

The Mayor appoints the board positions on the Oakland WDB. A majority of these positions are reserved for business-sector leaders. The Oakland WDB can have up to 27 members*. Generally speaking, the Mayor and the WDB share equal authority according to the federal legislation. The Oakland City Council authorizes the City Administrator to appropriate funding and enter into contracts with service providers.
